a. You must activate the Archiving Service in the Dental Allies' control panel

In order for Dental Allies to provide the Services (i.e., for the archiving Service to function any for Your data to be archived), You must activate the archiving Service in your Dental Allies control panel. You agree that Dental Allies and Dental Allies Parties will not be held responsible or made liable for any loss of data and/or Your failure to comply with any applicable laws, regulations, or professional standards (or any damages or losses in connection therewith) caused in connection with or as a result of Your failure to properly activate the archiving Service.

You will be charged for Dental Allies' archiving Service upon the commencement of Your order of such Service, regardless of when or whether You activate the Service.

b. You may be required to change the configuration setting of the archiving Service to automatically apply archiving to newly added mailboxes.

As a default, Dental Allies' archiving Service is typically not configured to apply to any mailboxes that You add to your Dental Allies account after the date that you initially activate the archiving Service.

If you fail to change the default setting and fail to manually activate the Services as described in the preceding sentence, Your new mailbox may not be archived. Please be sure to check the administrative settings of Your archiving Service, upon activation of Your Service, to confirm that the settings are configured as You desire.
